Sole Source Procurement Policy (SSPP)

2023

IFDC

Introduction

Sole Source, also known as sole source procurement, sole sourcing, sole-sourced contract, direct sourcing, sole supplier, or direct source, refers to a non-competitive purchasing or procurement process carried out after soliciting and negotiating with a single source, commonly referred to as the sole source.

This approach restricts Full and Open Competition (FOC).

A sole source contract implies that there is only one individual or company capable of providing the required contractual services, and any attempt to solicit bids would likely result in only one person or company being available to fulfill the requirement. Sole source procurement is utilized when no other alternatives for achieving FOC are viable.

Exceptions

The reasons for sole source contracts include:

1. Only one firm/individual has a product that will meet the projects needs or only one firm/individual can do the work;
2. The existence of an unusual and compelling urgency;
3. Unique specialization and expertise in the field

Write a sole source justification

Write a Sole Source Justification Memo with sentences providing only this information:

1. Use a formal letterhead and do not handwrite the Sole Source Justification Memo.
2. First, describe the products, goods, or services that are to be acquired and the estimated or exact amount of the contract to be awarded.
3. Next, specify the supplier, provider, reseller, distributor, or manufacturer you recommend. Provide complete company name, address, and contact information.
4. Then, justify the use of sole source by presenting the exact key reasons why this particular product or service is unique and unavailable from other sources. Reasons could be one or several of the reasons vary.
5. Demonstrate how you determined that there was only one source for the product or service, providing market research, for instance.
6. Explicitly request that a sole source be approved for the procurement of the requested items or services.
7. Finally, close the letter formally with "Sincerely" or a similar polite expression. Sign your name and title. Be sure to provide correct, complete contact, and reference information for future correspondence.
8. Since things sometimes get a little more complicated than usual, remember to consult a lawyer for further information before doing anything.
